ARCHIVE RELEASE

VINTAGE 2016

Early summer was extremely dry, but rain in January broke the drought and vineyards flourished as temperatures climbed well above average. Harvest started in mid-March with hillside pinot noir achieving perfect ripeness at lower sugars than previous years. In late March northerly airstreams brought a couple of dumps of rain and put pressure on the harvest. Warm temperatures continued and Marlborough's classic Indian summer made a welcome appearance allowing all vineyards to achieve full ripeness.
